FOREWORD

Trade in animals and animal products is growing rapidly and has become an important part of U.S. agricultural marketing. In 1973 U. S. exports of livestock and meat products were $1.4 billion, and imports were $2.3 billion. We expect this trade will increase in 1974 with exports estimated at $1.5 billion and imports at $2.1 billion.

In 1973 we exported 273,000 animals—193,000 for slaughter and 80,000 for breeding—and imported 1,035,000, mostly feeder cattle from Canada and Mexico.

The market development program carried out by U.S. livestock breed associations in cooperation with Foreign Agricultural Service has succeeded in generating worldwide interest in U.S. breeding cattle. Through exhibition of excellent U.S. breeding stock in international fairs, provision of U.S. judges at national and international livestock exhibitions, sponsorship of livestock purchase missions from abroad, and a continuous program of education, information, and public relations concerning the U.S. livestock industry, the United States is witnessing a sizable expansion of livestock exports.

The industry is highly involved in crossbreeding and in new breeds and types of cattle. National and regional shows abroad provide a valuable preview of livestock developments in other countries.

As a service to the U.S. livestock industry, the Agricultural Attaches and the Office of International Marketing—Livestock and Meat have compiled the tabulation on the following pages. This tabulation lists all the countries in which U. S. Agricultural Attaches are stationed and most of these countries have livestock shows or Agricultural fairs in which livestock are featured. These are listed along with such information as the cities in which they are held, when and how often they take place, what organization serves as contact, and the cities in which the Agricultural Attaches have their offices.

This tabulation is not offered as a complete list of fairs, nor does a listing imply Foreign Agricultural Service endorsement of an event.

A companion to this publication was issued by the Foreign Agricultural Service in November 1973; it is FAS-M-256, "Food and Agricultural Exhibits Throughout the World," and deals with trade fairs, food fairs, and the general agricultural fairs in other countries.
